

Using Pstation with Infineer Debit Card Systems

Description

Pcounter is fully compatible with any Infineer Debit card solution such as EasyCard, EasySmart or ChipNet and this datasheet will illustrate how the an Infineer debit card can be used in conjunction with the Pcounter Release Station.

Pcounter Station

Pcounter Station is an additional piece of software that runs in conjunction with the Pcounter server software. Pcounter Station runs on a dedicated Windows PC providing controlled, secure release of print jobs. After users send print jobs from elsewhere on the network, they can approach the Pcounter Station, optionally authenticate using their name, network password (or both) and select the jobs they wish to send to the printer.

Pcounter Station securely locks its host PC and Pcounter Station software is the only application, which is shown on the computer's display.

Pcounter Station works with print queues hosted on Windows or Novell servers. Pcounter Station in a NetWare environment works with NDS queues, Bindery queues, and NDPS printers. Pcounter for Windows or Pcounter for NetWare should be running on the print server, in order to automatically pause/hold jobs and to calculate the page counts and cost of print jobs.

To facilitate payment an Infineer debit card terminal is connected to the Release Station PC.

Terminal Options

ChipNet Smartcard Systems

By using the Infineer 6510 PC smartcard payment terminal in conjunction with the Pcounter Station software users can pay directly for their prints as they are released!

EasySmart

Users of EasySmart, Infineer's entry level smartcard system can also incorporate Pcounter by using the same low cost 6510 reader, available in both serial and USB formats.

Application Focus

Pcounter

EasyCard

Using the 8253 EasyCard Payment terminal allows Infineer's popular disposable cards to be used to pay for network prints.

Value Load

If your site wishes to use the Pcounter on-line account and you also have an Infineer debit card system, you can top up your account by transferring money from your Infineer debit card by using a dedicated Pstation in Value Load mode.

Pcounter Pro Integrated Copy & Print Management!